ing of three bank accounts. Proprietor of M/s Laxmi Enterprises, Dinesh Kumar Gupta, is also the Director of M/s Endeavour System Pvt Ltd (ESPL), a firm which is under probe by CBI in the graft case allegedly involving Kumar. Special CBI Judge Ajay Kumar Jain also observed that till date, the agency is unable to show even prima facie that the of Rs one crore along with the requisite security documents to the satisfaction of the court. It also asked the proprietor of firm to join the probe as and when required by the CBI.

Earlier on January 20, the CBI was directed by the court to return the documents sought by the Delhi government seized during the December 15 last year raids. PTI

'Participation in smart city project

paid in the project call still submit their projects freshly. "We are giving them one opportunity and they can submit their proposal by April 15 of this year," said Naidu, who was in Pune to attend a meet.

According to the minister, a special purpose vehicle (SPV) would be launched by concerned local body and union government would have no control over it by any means. He said the SPV will include mayor, elected representatives, representatives of political parties. SPV will be instrumental in getting funds for the project from international bodies, he said.

Staunchly denying any political consideration while announcing the list, Naidu said, "This is false. There is no political influence at all". Parameters for smart city are laid down and decision was taken on the basis of merit.

The minister made it clear that citizens will have to pay user charges to avail the facility to be provided under the smart city initiative. "The idea is to provide quality services to citizens through smart city. The citizens will have to pay user charges to avail these facilities," Naidu said.

mands. BMS was also not against the government's proposal of disinvestment since disinvestment at the current stage did not mean denationalisation, PK Dutta of Khadan Mazdoor Sangh, the BMS-backed trade union, said.

Coal trade unions plan 'work to rule' ice has also been served to the coal ministry.

On February 19 all the trade unions would demonstrate in front of the subsidiary headquarters and would place their charter of demands, which would mainly include stalling the process of disinvestment, increasing import duty of coal as well as rationalising coal prices, Roy said.

"All trade unions are in favour of a 'work to rule agitation' and this is likely to take place between March 7 and March 10," Dutta said.

Work to rule is an action in which employees keep their work limited to the rules of contract. Workers may only follow the safety measures and slow down the process of work instead of going on an all-out strike.

The decision for a 'work to rule agitation' came after the five trade unions met at Nagpur to review their status of demand. While all the trade unions agreed that the demands of the trade unions have not yet been accepted, BMS felt that the demands of

On February 19 all the trade unions would demonstrate in front of the subsidiary headquarters and would place their charter of demands, which would mainly include stalling the process of disinvestment, increasing import duty of coal as well as rationalising coal prices, Roy said.

SQ Zama, of INTUC-backed National Mine Workers Federation, said four trade unions were firm on their decision of going on a strike on March 29, although they were always open to talks with the government. "In September last year all the five trade unions joined hands to call a strike on issues related to labour and industrial relation but BMS ditched us at the last moment. So this time the four trade unions have decided not to take BMS into consideration," Zama said.
